With all the options that are out there, why should I hire IPDI to help my company become more efficient and effective?

It's Your Business - a newsletter from Integrated Process Developers, Inc.

April, 2009

There are a number of project management training and consulting companies vying for your business. Why should you hire Integrated Process Developers, Inc. (IPDI) to help make your company more efficient and effective?

Simple. You need a customized, personalized solution to your project problems and training needs. You don't want to be "one of a hundred" clients. With IPDI you won't!

Making Companies & People More Efficient & Effective for a Better Today and TomorrowSM

IPDI's 11 Year Track Record of Success

If you answered "Yes" to any of these questions, then Integrated Process Developers, Inc. (IPDI) can assist.

A Full Service Project Management Company

Unlike other companies that offer a handful of services, IPDI is a full service project management and process improvement consulting and training company that has been working with companies around the United States and Canada for over eleven years.

IPDI has an extensive line of onsite and online project management and general management training courses to facilitate your employees' skill development. Any of our onsite courses can be held at your company's site.

When all you have is a hammer, all the world looks like a nail – Many project management companies have a "one size fits all" mentality. At IPDI, we first learn

Helpful Tips

PMP Certification is the Right Choice for Project Managers

Amit Doda

PMP certification is being widely recognized as the standard qualification for project managers in a large number of companies worldwide.

Project managers with PMP certification are in huge demand and they also earn better pay packages compared to their peers who do not have a PMP certification.

The PMP certification not only enhances the skills of a project manager but also strengthens their resume.

PMP is one of the most rigorous examinations in the field of project management.

Read ahead to know why PMP certification is an important addition to a project manager's skill set.

what your needs are and then tailor a customized solution to fit those needs.

Unlike our competition, IPDI will customize any of our onsite courses to meet your company's specific needs. Why go "canned" when you can go "customized" to meet your needs.

One of IPDI's most sought after courses is the Project Management Professional – Preparation for Certification onsite course. Project Management Professional® (PMP®) certification for your project managers and team leaders will improve the success of your projects and show your clients that your company uses the latest techniques to complete their projects. This course has been used by various universities in the United States and Canada in their adult education departments to help re-train people for the new economy.

Project Management Humor

Caught Sleeping In Your Office Cubicle?

Best excuses if you get caught sleeping in your office cubicle:

- "It's okay: I'm still billing the client."
- "They told me at the blood bank this might happen."
- "This is just a 15-minute power nap like they raved about in that time-management course you sent me to."
