

“Even If You Are On The Right Track, You’ll Get Run Over If You Just Sit There”

-- Will Rogers

Integrated Process Developers, Inc. is a full service project management consulting company which can help you and your company in this difficult economy.

It's Your Business - a newsletter from Integrated Process Developers, Inc.

July, 2008

At Integrated Process Developers, Inc. we recognize that project management varies by industry. To that end, we are pleased to expand our online Project Management course offerings to include a new Project Management for Information Technology course. When compared with projects in other industries, information technology projects present different and interesting challenges. IT projects often require ideas and information that go beyond standard project management. Read more below...

Two Words To Boost Your Career: Thank You

Beginning with the "thank you" for your first job interview and ending with the "thank you" for your retirement party, your career can benefit enormously from simple notes of gratitude written along the way. Frequent, well-written thank-you notes can foster professional success in unimaginable ways, and they are especially important after a job interview.

Integrated Process Developers, Inc.'s (IPDI) mission is to improve corporate profits and the quality of life of its employees by assisting companies in developing integrated processes and utilizing project management to define, develop and launch product development efforts on budget, on time and at the quality requirements.

Project Management for Information Technology

New Microsoft Project Menu for Project Managers

We have created a 100% web-based, self-paced, nine-module Project Management for Information Technology course to meet the unique requirements that Information Technology projects bring.

In the latest release of Microsoft Project, a new menu has been added to substantially help project managers with their projects.

This course reviews key concepts from The Project Management Body of Knowledge (PMBOK ®) and explores how these concepts apply to the management of IT projects.

Participants successfully completing this course earn 25 PDU's towards the Project Management Professional® Certification, and through a combination of graphics, interactive exercises, case studies, and practice exams, master the knowledge, skills, tools, and techniques for a broad range of activities, from scheduling to communication, from time management to closing a project.

If you have any project management humor, please forward it to Doug Boebinger at: dbb@processdevelopers.com

For a limited time we are offering our online Project Management for Information Technology course at specialty pricing.
